1 Scope and application

- 1.1 These terms and conditions, together with your offer letter, registration form, University regulations, applicable course information page, applicable programme handbook and programme specification for your programme, set out the terms that apply between Teesside University ('the University' or 'we' or 'our') and any applicant ('you' or 'your') to whom the University makes any offer of a place on a programme of study leading to a University award or credit ('the programme').
- 1.2 These terms and conditions apply from the day you accept your offer of a place on the programme and continue to apply for as long as you remain enrolled on the programme unless terminated earlier, as permitted below in these terms and conditions. You have a statutory right to cancel your contract with the University within a cancellation period of 14 calendar days after the date you accept your offer; further details on cancellation can be found at section 3.5 below.

2 Definitions

- 2.1 University regulations: The University regulations, which are amended from time to time, are a comprehensive framework of rules, regulations, policies and procedures that govern and set our expectations on matters such as your learning, teaching, assessment, conduct, use of IT and library facilities, health and safety issues, legislative requirements such as data protection and other aspects concerning your studies that you must abide by as a student of the University. These are further described in clause 3.2 and are freely available online or alternatively from your School (or college) or institution, OSCAR, Student Services or the Students' Union.
- 2.2 Programme specification: The programme specification sets out an overview of the programme as approved by the University and can be found in our programme catalogue. It includes key information such as the awarding body, delivery location, award title, criteria for admission, aims and learning outcomes, key learning and teaching methods, assessment methods and programme structure. The most up-to-date information for your programme is found on the University's website prior to your enrolment.
- 2.3 Programme handbook: Your programme handbook is provided to you after enrolment. This includes, amongst other information, full details of your programme structure, module content, professional body accreditation (if any), and learning, teaching and assessment methods.
- 2.4 Programme: Programme means a programme of study leading to a University award or credit.

3 Terms and conditions

- 3.1 Enrolment and fees: By enrolling onto the programme you are agreeing to pay the tuition fees and any other fees relating to your programme and to be bound by the University's fees and charges regulations for that academic year which can be found here. It is your obligation to make arrangements at the beginning of your programme for the payment of your fees. Failure to pay your tuition fees when due may lead to sanctions (see clause 3.9). You are required to re-enrol each academic year of your programme. Your annual tuition fees cover your first attempt at all the modules necessary to complete that academic year which includes a reassessment attempt of any failed components of a module. A restudy of any modules incurs an extra charge as set out in the University's fees and charges regulations. You need to pay the tuition fees that apply for the year that you enrol onto your programme. Home/EU tuition fees may be subject to annual increases but will not increase more than the fee caps set by the Office for Fair Access or such other replacing body. We will take into account a range of factors including the rise in costs of delivering the programme and changes in government funding in determining any annual increase. Increases are published on the University's webpages relating to fees at least three months before the start of the next academic year. International fees are fixed at the same level as the year of registration for all years of study on the programme. Full details of our fee structure can be found here. If you are transferring credit from another institution, you are advised of any additional modules that you need to take and the applicable fees.
- You are invoiced by the University for the full amount or remaining portion of your fees for each year of your programme (including repeat years), unless, for each year of your programme, you have either:
- a) financial support through Student Finance England, Wales, Northern Ireland or SAA
 - b) an official letter from an employer or a sponsor indicating responsibility for the payment of your fees in full or part
 - c) applied for and obtained a discount or remission of fees.
- 3.1.1 It is your responsibility to ensure that, where applicable, a copy of the appropriate funding documentation referred to above is submitted to the University's Finance team by the required date.
- 3.1.2 If you enrol on the basis that you are, or will be, applying for a tuition fee waiver (full or part time), bursary or other University funding source, you are obliged to pay the full amount due if the application is not approved.
- 3.1.3 If you are self-funding and have to pay your own fees, you can pay in a number of ways as set out in the University's Fees and Charges Regulations.
- 3.2 University regulations: You agree to comply with the regulations that apply to enrolled students.
- Key provisions of the regulations of which you should be aware include:
- a) the University's expectations of student attendance and academic progress, as set out in the Attendance Policy, Assessment Regulations and Academic Appeal Regulations. Failure to meet these expectations may mean that you are not permitted to progress on your course
 - b) the University's rules about academic misconduct including plagiarism and the processes the University utilises to detect plagiarism, which can be found in the Academic Misconduct Regulations. Breach of these rules may result in a disciplinary process and the imposition of academic penalties and/or expulsion

- c) the University's expectations of student behaviour, as set out in the Student Disciplinary Regulations and Student Code of Conduct. Breach of these rules could result in a disciplinary process and the imposition of sanctions including expulsion from the University
- d) regulations relating to Fitness to Study which describes the steps the University may take if there are concerns about your health and wellbeing that raise questions about your fitness and suitability to continue to study
- e) the University's rules governing fitness to practice, as set out in the Fitness to Practice Regulations, which apply to students on professionally regulated courses which lead to or satisfy the conditions of a professional qualification or confer a licence to practice in a particular profession. A failure to observe these requirements may call into question a student's fitness to practice and result in a disciplinary process and the imposition of sanctions, including expulsion from the University
- f) the requirement that applicants to professional courses undergo an enhanced Disclosure and Barring Service check before they can be enrolled on these programmes, and the statutory requirements regarding disqualification by association. Depending on the outcome of these checks, you may not be eligible to enrol on these programmes.

3.3 Changes to programme: We seek to deliver your programme in accordance with the description in the course information page. However, there may be situations in which it is desirable or necessary for us to make changes to your programme, for example a force majeure event (as explained in paragraph 7.3). If those circumstances occur, the University will seek to minimise the impact on the student learning experience by, for example:

- a) delivering a modified version of the same programme
- b) making available to affected students such learning or other support and other services and facilities as it considers appropriate
- c) offering affected students the opportunity to transfer to another programme or to withdraw and be given reasonable support to move to another university. In addition to the circumstances described above, the University is entitled to make reasonable changes to its programmes where that will enable the University to deliver an equivalent or better quality of educational experience to students enrolled on the programme. Examples of such circumstances may include:
 - d) the content and syllabus of the programme where developments in the subject area make that necessary, including changes in any applicable statutory and/or regulatory body requirements
 - e) the location of the programme
 - f) the method of delivery of the programme.

Module options: For programmes that have optional modules, we cannot guarantee that all module options will always be available. This is because there may be a limited number of places for each module or certain modules may not be able to run if there is insufficient numbers or the currency/topicality of the subject matter of the module has changed or ceased. In such cases, we will endeavour to supply a suitable alternative module.

3.4 Location of programme: The University has two campuses, Middlesbrough and Darlington. Some of the University's collaborative provision is also delivered at partner Colleges. The location of your programme is set out in the programme specification and course information page. We are committed to investing in the quality of both our campuses as well as the support we offer students who study by distance learning or through one of our collaborative partners. As such, on occasion, we may undertake redevelopment work which may cause you some disruption to your ordinary timetable. All our improvement works are designed to ensure disruption is kept to a minimum and is aimed at providing the best possible space and facilities for an excellent student experience.

3.5 Your right to cancel: You have a statutory right to cancel this contract without giving any reason. The cancellation period will expire after 14 days from the date when you accept your offer (cancellation period). To exercise the right to cancel, you must inform the University of your decision to cancel this contract by a clear statement (for example, a letter sent by post, fax or email). You may use the model cancellation form available here but it is not obligatory. The University will accept an email sent to records@tees.ac.uk. To meet the cancellation deadline, it is sufficient for you to send your communication concerning your right to cancel before the cancellation period has expired.

Effect of cancellation: If you cancel this contract as set out above, the University reimburses any payments received from you under the contract. The University makes the reimbursement without undue delay and no later than 14 days after the day on which it is informed about your decision to cancel this contract. The University makes the reimbursement using the same means of payment as you used for the initial transaction. In any event, you will not incur any fees as a result of the reimbursement. Cancellation after the statutory cancellation period: If you cancel the contract after the statutory cancellation period has expired, depending on when you cancel the contract you may be obliged to pay a proportion of your tuition fees, as set out in the University's Fees and Charges Regulations. Courses that begin within the statutory cancellation period: If your course is due to begin within 14 days from the date you accept the offer of a place at the University (for example, this may happen if you have applied through adjustment or clearing) then, by accepting the offer of the place, you are expressly agreeing that the service should begin within the cancellation period. If you subsequently decide to cancel the contract within the cancellation period you are liable to pay a proportion of fees to cover the period from the commencement of the University's service to you to the date of cancellation, as set out in the University's Fees and Charges Regulations.

3.6 Data Protection : The University, as Data Controller complies with its obligations under the Data Protection Act 2018 and the General Data Protection Regulations ("Data Protection Legislation") as set out in its Data Protection Policy. The University collects, hold and process your personal information (including personal data and special category data as defined by Data Protection Legislation) for the purpose of administrating and managing your educational programme and qualifications, and to provide you with all other services provided by the University, or incidental to the University's operations and its status as a Higher Education Corporation. This includes for example facilitating your membership of Teesside University's Students' Union and the University's Alumni Association. The University may also share your personal information with other organisations where this is necessary in the fulfilment of its statutory obligations or as required by law. Full details of how we use your data are set out in our Student Privacy Notice; and in the University's wider Data Protection Policy. The University has a legitimate interest in keeping you informed of events or opportunities relevant to your course and will send you emails accordingly. If you do not consent to your data being processed by us in this way, please contact enquiries@tees.ac.uk or use the unsubscribe function at the bottom of any marketing emails. You may unsubscribe at any time.

3.7 Intellectual property: You agree to be bound by the University's Intellectual Property Policy \(Students\), which sets out the position of ownership of IP in various circumstances. If you are an undergraduate student, we do not automatically take ownership of intellectual property that you create as part of your studies or your research. However, in some circumstances, we may need you to transfer intellectual property to the University or a third party – for example, this will sometimes be necessary before you can participate in a specific project or if a third party is funding the research and requires the rights to the intellectual property. If you are a postgraduate research student, you assign to the University, by way of future assignment, all intellectual property created by you in the course of your research as a student of the University. In return, such students are treated in the same way as members of staff for the purpose of royalty sharing (see Schedule A University's Intellectual Property Policy \(Students\)). You also license the University to use any of your previously created intellectual property which is incorporated in that research or research outcome.

You agree to keep your research material confidential. The University may require you to confirm both this obligation of confidence and the assignment of intellectual property rights in more detail. In return, should the University derive a commercial value from your research, you may be entitled to apply for a share of net revenue under the University's Intellectual Property Policy \(Students\). You must not disclose to a third party any other confidential information of the University that you are told at the time of disclosure which is confidential or that is disclosed in a manner where it was obviously intended to be confidential. You acknowledge that the intellectual property rights in all course materials provided to you as part of your programme are owned by us or licensed to us and you agree to use such course materials only for your own personal study purposes.

- 3.8 Audio recording of taught academic contact sessions: You are normally permitted to audio record taught academic contact sessions for your personal use unless otherwise instructed by your tutor. Where recording occurs, you are not permitted to share it with anyone else (except with a transcriber to accommodate a disability need) or put the recording in the public domain in any manner whatsoever. All intellectual property rights in the recording belongs to the University.
- 3.9 Debts: We may, at our discretion, withdraw facilities from, withhold the conferment of academic awards to, terminate the enrolment of or refuse to enrol or re-enrol persons who owe academic-related monies to us in accordance with our Fees and Charges Regulations. Academic debtors are not invited to attend the Academic Awards Ceremony and their name will not appear in the Academic Awards brochure. In deciding what action to take, the University considers all the circumstances of your case. The University's full policy on the recovery of academic debts is available here.

- 3.10 Equality Act 2010: If you have a disability or a long-term health condition, you are strongly encouraged to disclose the relevant information as early as possible to enable us to discuss support arrangements with you. Information about the help we can offer can be found here.
- 3.11 UK visas and immigration: If you are a Tier 4 sponsored student, you must comply with the immigration rules, conditions of your visa and obey the law at all times. It is your sole responsibility to familiarise yourself with the UK immigration requirements and ensure you comply with the conditions of your Tier 4 visa. We reserve the right to request appropriate evidence from any Tier 4 sponsored student that they are complying with the conditions of their visa, as we see fit (including the right, at any time, to require a re-testing of English Language ability to ensure it is maintained at least at the same level as required on entry to the programme). We do not take any responsibility for students who breach any of their Tier 4 visa conditions and will withdraw Tier 4 sponsorship in these cases. The University's Tier 4 Compliance Policy and Tier 4 Attendance and Engagement Policy prescribe how the University discharges its Tier 4 sponsorship requirements to UKVI.
- 3.12 Complaints: The University has a Student Complaints Policy and Procedure that is accessible to all students of the University. Full details of the procedure can be found here.

- 3.13 Office of the Independent Adjudicator (OIA): If, further to your complaint, we have provided you with a completion of procedures letter and you are still unhappy with the outcome of your complaint, you may be able to refer it to OIA. Full details of how OIA works can be found here. Once the OIA is considering your complaint, you may not normally commence any legal proceedings in the civil courts on the same matter.
- 3.14 University halls of residence: If you are offered a place in our halls of residence, it is dependent on you remaining enrolled as a full-time student with us. If you withdraw from your programme or are required by us to withdraw from it, you are also required to leave our accommodation. If you are suspended from the University under the University's Student Disciplinary Regulations or Fitness to Study Policy, the University reserves the right to require you to leave our accommodation.
- 3.15 Changes to University regulations: The University reserves the right to add to, delete or make reasonable changes to the regulations where, in the opinion of the University, such changes will assist in the proper delivery of education. Changes are usually made for one or more of the following reasons:
- to review and update the regulations to ensure they are fit for purpose
 - to reflect changes in the external environment including legal or regulatory changes, changes to funding or financial arrangements or changes to government policy, requirements or guidance
 - to incorporate sector guidance or best practice
 - to incorporate feedback from students
 - to aid clarity or consistency of approach.

The University consults with the Students' Union before making any substantive changes to the regulations. Any changes normally come into effect at the start of the next academic year, although may be introduced during the academic year where the University reasonably considers this to be in the interests of students or where this is required by law or other exceptional circumstances. The University takes all reasonable steps to minimise disruption to students wherever reasonably possible, for example by giving reasonable notice of changes to the regulations before they take effect or by phasing in the changes, if appropriate. The updated regulations are made available on the University's website and may be publicised by other means so that students are made aware of any changes.

- 3.16 Students' Union: All students registered at the University are entitled to full membership of the Students' Union. Students automatically become a Students' Union member unless they opt out in accordance with the University's Students' Union Code of Practice. In accordance with the Education Act 1994, every registered student at the University has the right to choose not to be a member of the Students' Union and/or not to be represented by it, and not to be unfairly disadvantaged by reason of having exercised that right. The sole consequences for a registered student of the University of choosing not to be a member of the Students' Union are:
- ineligibility to vote in Students' Union elections or referenda
 - ineligibility to stand in Students' Union elections
 - ineligibility to hold office in any Students' Union club or society.

The Students' Union is governed by the law relating to charities. The Students' Union cannot have a political purpose and must not seek to advance the interest of any political party although it may seek to influence political opinion on issues relating directly to its own stated purposes, provided such activity is within its powers. The ways in which charities may or may not legitimately engage in political activities is the subject of advice and legislation from time to time by the Charity Commission, Courts of Law, parliament, and government departments. Expenditure must be at a reasonable level, taking into account the potential benefit to Students' Union members, and the financial resources and commitments of the Students' Union.

- 3.16 Freedom of Speech: The University is responsible under section 43 of the Education (No.2) Act 1986 for the provision of safeguards to ensure freedom of speech within the law. The University's Code of Practice on Freedom of Speech is published here.
- 3.17 Teesside University Advance Scheme: Students entitled to the benefits of the Teesside University Advance Scheme are given their Advance package when they come to enrol on campus and do not need to separately apply. Eligibility for the Advance Scheme is defined in the Teesside University Advance \(student iPads and online bookstore\) terms and conditions. If you are an eligible student, by accepting your offer of a place to study with us, you also accept the Teesside University Advance \(student iPads and online bookstore\) terms and conditions.
